

Flavour Stockist!

Flavour Stockist!

Maggie has always declared she just can't cook without a good stock, so our first thought is, neither shall we! And while we all love the idea of a slow cooked pot of stock simmering away on the stove for hours, it's not always a possibility for modern cooks; time-poor amongst the activity of day-to-day life. However, compromise needn't be part of your cooking at all, as Maggie explains, "Good stock can transform a dish from the ordinary to the exceptional, but making it is a lengthy process. However, if time is not on your side there's no need to compromise the base of a wonderful meal, so here is the stock you would have made yourself if only you did have more hours in the day!"

Maggie's full flavoured Vegetable, Chicken, Beef & Game Stocks, are the perfect starting point for wonderful reduced sauces, risottos or braising. They can also be used to add richness to almost any casserole you can imagine, a gravy for a classic roast chicken or to poach broad beans ready to 'mash' for bruschetta.
